

Sandra Malamed

Portfolio Analyst

Sandra joined L&S Advisors in 2016. Sandra works closely with her husband Ken Malamed and the Investment Committee doing research on the firm's equity holdings and providing support for the firm's high-net-worth clients.

In 1985, Sandra and Ken founded Financial Management Advisors, LLC, which was eventually acquired. Later, she worked at First Western Capital Management Company, where she served as Senior Vice President and as an equity analyst.

Sandra is also a historian and author of The Jews of Early America: A Chronicle of Good Taste and Good Deeds and The Return to Judaism: Descendants from the Inquisition Discovering Their Jewish Roots. She has lectured throughout the United States and abroad at various historical societies and museums and has been a scholar in residence for many private organizations. She has also served as visiting curator at the Skirball Cultural Center in Los Angeles and the American Jewish Historical Society in Waltham, Massachusetts.

Sandra holds a B.A. in English and performed graduate work at UCLA and the Peabody Museum in Salem, Massachusetts.
