

David Maya

Business Development Manager

David Maya joined L&S Advisors in 2018 as Business Development Manager. In this role, David focuses on business development for L&S' growing list of institutional clients.

David brings decades of industry experience. Prior to joining L&S, David worked at First Western Capital Management as an Associate Relationship Manager where he was responsible for assisting with Global Investment Performance Standards (GIPS) compliance and supporting client and new prospect communication.

David received his B.A. from California State University, Los Angeles.